SalsaJ (Such a Lovely Software for Astronomy) Tips for Installation for Windows

EU-HOU

Before installing Salsa J you have to make sure that you have Java installed

Windows

Search in the program files folder. You should have a folder like this one there (called Java). There are two different program files. It is usually in the Program Files (x86)

If you don't have Java take the following steps

• Go to https://www.java.com/, download and install the program

Open the webpage http://www.euhou.net/ and click on software and choose dowload in the menu

Installation

You will need to start with the basic version of the software.

You can choose with or without images associated.

Choose the one adequate to your operating

Go back to Salsa J download page. But this time download the new version of SalsaJ.jar

This will bring a zipped file (SalsaJ.jar.zip) that you will have to unzip (decompress) in order to extract

Find the place where Salsa J is installed (Program Files (x86) and open the folder where Salsa J is.

Now copy the new SalsaJ.jar that you have unzipped (uncompressed) and replace the one existing in the folder

If you now click in the SalsaJ.jar file (you might not be able to see the extension, it depends on how your computer is set). The icon you should click on is this one

And a bar like this one should appear

Et Voila !!! You have your Salsa J properly working

You will have to delete the Salsa J icon you have in your desktop and create a new shortcut

Click on this file (that is inside the file of Salsa J you have just visited), but use the right button of your mouse.
